Art Unit: 1805

1. Claims 39 and 40 are withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37

CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention, the requirement having been traversed in Paper No. 8.

It is noted that applicants cannot amend withdrawn claims. Therefore, the amendments to claims 39-40 have not been entered.

2. Claim 2-14, 16-18, 41, 43-49, 58-59 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for methods which reduce the incidence of diabetes mellitus or SLE, does not reasonably provide enablement for methods which reduce the incidence of any chronic immune related disease or any autoimmune disease. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to the invention commensurate in scope with these claims.

The claims methods for the reduction of incidence of any chronic immune related disease or any autoimmune disease. It is noted that the terms "chronic immune mediated disorder" and "autoimmune disease" comprises perhaps hundreds or thousands of diseases ranging from hay fever to cancer. Although applicants have provided evidence that reduction of diabetes mellitus type I and SLE incidence can be reduced, it is maintained that the mechanisms by which immune related diseases occur are widely varying, and there is no predictability regarding any one treatment's effect on other immune related disease. It is maintained that it would require undue experimentation to determine vaccination schedules, and types and amounts of immunogens, which would have the claimed effect of reduction of incidence of any autoimmune disease or chronic immune-mediated disorder, due to the lack of guidance in the specification and the very large numbers of possible variations embodied by the claims. Therefore, the claims should be limited to methods which reduce the incidence of diabetes mellitus or SLE.

3. Claim 18 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for claims limited to the listed immunogens other than a malaria or HIV immunogen, does not reasonably provide enablement for a method of immunizing against malaria or HIV. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to practice the invention commensurate in scope with these claims.

The rejection is maintained for the reasons made of record in the previous Office action. Applicants have argued that the thrust of the instant invention is not vaccination against malaria and HIV, but rather reducing the incidence of autoimmune disease. However, it is maintained that the instant claim recites immunization against malaria and HIV, as acknowledged by applicants. Therefore, the rejection is maintained.

4. Claims 41, 43-46 and 49 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ferreri et al., Lee et al., Barrett et al., Halsy et al., Huang et al., or Harris et al. (U.S. Pat. No. 4,152,415) (all previously cited).

Art Unit: 1805

This rejection is maintained for the reasons set forth in the previous Office action.

Applicants have argued that the written instructions recited in the claims must be given equal consideration to the actual product, citing In re Gulack, 217 USPQ 401,405 (Fed. Cir. 1983).

However, it is maintained that In re Gulack states that weight is given printed material if there is a functional relationship to the substrate. Gulack involved a band or ring with digits imprinted on the band, in which said digits bear a functional relationship to the band itself, i.e. they display various aspects of number theory, or can be used to perform magic tricks. In contrast, the written material in the instant claims are simply instructions as to how to use the product, which constitute an intended use, and is given little weight. Therefore, applicants' arguments are not found convincing and the rejection is maintained.

Claim 42 is objected to as being dependent on a rejected base claim.

Claims 21-26, 28-34, 37, 50-57 are allowed.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for response to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the date of this action. In the event a first response is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37

Art Unit: 1805

CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event will the statutory period for response expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
